“THE GIBBONS PLAN FOR ST. PETERSBURG”
Mayoral hopeful Deveron Gibbons reveals top priorities in four-point plan

(St. Petersburg) Fulfilling his promise to forge an agenda responding to input he’s received from residents across the city, mayoral hopeful Deveron Gibbons today released “The Gibbons Plan for St. Petersburg” (attached) that focuses on public safety, the economy/jobs, government transparency, and no new taxes.

The Plan reinforces Gibbons’ pragmatic, fiscally conservative approach to leading and managing the city at a time of economic challenge.

“How can you fashion an agenda for St. Petersburg without talking to the people, from one end of the city to the other, to know how they really feel today? I’m running for Mayor to put people first, and ‘The Gibbons Plan for St. Petersburg’ reflects that commitment,” Deveron Gibbons said.

“I’ve heard from you, the people of this city, that there’s nothing more important than a job, a sound economy, feeling safe, tax restraint, and having a seat at the table in the next administration,” Gibbons added.

The campaign announced it would release a more detailed description of Gibbons’ approach to public safety (“there is nothing more important to the health and prosperity of this city...”) Monday, followed by similar releases in the coming weeks dealing with jobs/economy, budget/taxes, and transparency in government.

“This Plan is an impressive summary of the things that will continue to make our city strong, vibrant and safe,” former State Senator Jim Sebesta said today.

“Deveron’s an incredible listener, so no one’s surprised that he’s the only mayoral contender who cared enough to first ask what we want, and what we believe, then committed to put that into action,” longtime education activist, businesswoman, and community leader Chris Borges said today.

“I am running for the people of St. Petersburg...with a program that comes from the people of St. Petersburg,” Gibbons added.
