Please note that only published works/authors are eligible to be featured at the Festival. Authors of self-published works are invited and encouraged to participate in our Book Market. A self-published book is one that has not gone through a traditional vetting process at a publishing house and has been issued at the expense of the author rather than the publisher. For more information or vendor application, please visit www.festivalofreading.com or call 727-892-2933.
